

William C. Heyman
President & CEO

As Founder, President and CEO of Heyman Associates, Bill manages senior-level searches for blue-chip and emerging companies, major nonprofits and academic institutions.

An Institute for Public Relations trustee, frequent industry awards judge, and regular speaker, Bill is a PRWeek 2007 and 2008 PR Power List Supporting Power Player: “In an industry where talent is everything, Heyman helps connect some of the most senior pros to jobs, making him an indispensable asset to all involved in executive searches.” Based on his industry contributions, Bill gained admission to the select Arthur W. Page Society for senior public relations and corporate communications executives.

Bill is an advisory board member for The Plank Center for Leadership in Public Relations at the University of Alabama. With the University, Bill initiated two groundbreaking public relations studies – the first on success factors, published in the International Journal of Strategic Communications, and awarded the International Communication Association 2005 “Robert L. Heath Top Paper Award,” and the second on leadership qualities. The reports are unique in their public relations focus and perspective from industry leaders.

Bill is a board member of The Lagrant Foundation, which awards scholarships to minority PR students, and an advisory council member of the College of Charleston Department of Communication. He is also quoted in “The Likeability Factor” by Tim Sanders.

A Gettysburg College graduate, Bill was Marketing Committee Chairman, National Campaign Steering Committee member, Board of Fellows member and June 2005 Gettysburg Meritorious Service award recipient. He earned an MBA from Adelphi University.

Lisa A. Ryan
Senior Vice President/
Managing Director

Lisa handles executive searches in the areas of corporate communications, public relations, academic and public affairs.

For the firm’s blue-chip clients, Lisa has successfully completed senior-level communications searches for Fortune 500 corporations, public relations agencies, nonprofit organizations and associations. Her areas of special expertise include pharmaceutical/healthcare, consumer products, insurance, and industrials. Lisa has also handled a number of assignments for academic institutions, and based on her early career has a particular affinity for colleges and universities.

Lisa is often asked to speak at professional organization meetings and seminars, including those run by the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA) and the International Association of Business Communicators (IABC). For the past three years, she has been a featured speaker at the Public Affairs Council's National PAC Conference.

Lisa previously served as an executive search associate with The Cantor Concern, Inc., after having been the national management recruiter for Nutri/System, Inc. Earlier she was a nurse recruiter and assistant registrar for the College of Allied Health Sciences at Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia. She began her career in college admissions at Widener University in Chester, PA.

Lisa graduated with a bachelor's degree in communications and theater arts from Susquehanna University.

An active member of the North Jersey Affiliate of Susan G. Komen for the Cure, Lisa is past president of the Board of Trustees and currently Board Development Chair. She is also an Executive Committee member for the affiliate's Pink Tie Ball, New Jersey's largest fundraising event. She sat on the Race Leadership Committee 2008 for its first Race for the Cure. Lisa received the Ruth Siksnius Volunteer of the Year Angel award 2008.

Maryanne B. Rainone
Senior Vice President/
Managing Director

Maryanne handles executive searches in corporate communications, media relations, investor relations, speechwriting, internal communications and public affairs for the firm's blue-chip clients, most of which are in the Fortune 200.

Maryanne's areas of expertise include financial and professional services, technology, entertainment and media, and conglomerates, as well as major nonprofits.

Maryanne also manages operations for Heyman Associates, including business development, overall research and technology initiatives, and regularly develops competitive studies and analyses for clients. She has industry contacts at corporations, agencies, public sector and associations across the country and internationally.

She speaks to industry/membership groups including chapters of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA) and the National Investor Relations Institute (NIRI)—of which she is a member. She is also a member of the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM). Maryanne has been quoted in the trade and general press and broadcast media on topics such as relocation and negotiation.

“201 Great Ideas for Your Small Business,” a book by Jane Applegate, includes comments made by Maryanne.

Before joining Heyman Associates, Maryanne served 11 years with what was then Chase Manhattan Bank, in management positions in customer service, marketing, loan servicing and new business development, where she managed large teams. Maryanne worked in public relations at United Cerebral Palsy prior to entering the financial services field.

She is an active member in a number of community and volunteer concerns. Maryanne is an honors graduate of the New York Institute of Technology, with a bachelor’s degree in communications. She also holds an MBA from Adelphi University.

Julie Jarrett
Vice President

Julie is responsible for all steps of the search process from new business development, research and candidate identification to the interview, selection and negotiation process.

Her industry expertise includes consumer products, health care, retail, cable and satellite, electronics and technology. She has focused on the full range of corporate communications and public affairs disciplines.

Julie also has assisted in establishing Heyman’s presence in the European Union for EU-based corporations and for a variety of Fortune 500 companies with international operations. She regularly partners with consultants from Taylor Bennett on global corporate communications assignments as part of Heyman’s formal affiliation with the London-based firm.

Julie has been quoted as an expert in the executive search industry in the business and career book, “From Cinderella to CEO” by Cary Broussard. Advising on critical aspects of career advancement, Julie provided the author with tips on topics such as networking, strategic resume writing and interview etiquette. She has spoken on such topics as new media in communications to PRSSA and at a number of colleges and universities.

Prior to joining Heyman Associates, Julie spent time in public relations for two nonprofits, St. Joseph’s Hospital Health Center and the Museum of Science and Technology, both located in Syracuse, NY.

Julie is a graduate of Le Moyne College in Syracuse, NY, where she earned a bachelor’s degree in English literature. She is a member of the New York Road Runners Club and the United States Tennis Association.

Jessamyn R. Katz
Director

Jessamyn focuses on a wide variety of searches, including brand and marketing communications, public relations and corporate communications.

In addition to covering a range of industries, including consumer products, financial services and healthcare, she has developed expertise in the academic arena which has further established the firm in this unique niche. As a Senior Associate, Jessamyn works with both candidates and clients through each stage of the recruiting process. As a result she has built a spectrum of strong relationships.

Prior to joining Heyman Associates, Jessamyn held internships at public relations agencies Abernathy MacGregor and Burson-Marsteller in the areas of financial communications and brand marketing. Preceding her time in public relations, she lived in Texas, Switzerland and California before graduating from Bucknell University with a bachelor's degree in psychology and education.

She speaks fluent German and Spanish and is a member of New York Women in Communications, Inc. (NYWICI) and sits on the New York committee for Room to Read.

Julia Budnick
Associate

Julia, new to Heyman Associates and the executive search profession, will take on a generalist role, by supporting assignments across functional, geographic and industry lines. Julia utilizes her strong communication skills to ensure candidates' and clients' goals are met throughout the recruiting process.

Prior to joining Heyman Associates, Julia held internships in financial services, public relations and human resources. She most recently worked in the global university relations department at Tyco International. While at Tyco Julia led 25 summer interns and also assisted in refining the department's recruiting agenda and marketing campaign. In addition to her daily tasks Julia managed a social media initiative.

Julia graduated from Trinity College with a Bachelor of Science in psychology with a concentration in writing, rhetoric and media arts studies. During college she spent an extensive period of time studying Spanish in Barcelona, Spain. Post graduation Julia became an active member in Trinity's Alumni Admissions Support Program. She also volunteers for the New York City charity, Uniting Against Lung Cancer.

Erin M. Currie
Associate

Erin focuses on a variety of searches including reputation management, social responsibility and sustainability, corporate communications, marketing communications and media relations. She has worked across a range of industries including healthcare, food & beverage and consumer products.

Prior to joining Heyman Associates, Erin was a Recruitment Manager at Concord Management Group in Philadelphia and New York where she handled talent development for sales, marketing and legal professionals in the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries. Preceding her career in executive search, Erin worked in the fashion and accessories industry.

Erin attended Dickinson College, graduating in 2001 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Studio Art.

Marian Hogan
Associate

Marian's research supports a variety of executive searches in corporate communications, public affairs and branding. To achieve the best fit between client and candidate, she approaches her role with an understanding of and appreciation for the unique qualities of both parties.

Prior to joining Heyman Associates, Marian interned across a range of industries in startup and agency environments. She developed an informed interest in new media and its impact on strategic communications, and continues to closely follow developments in technologies and their impact on the public relations industry.

Originally from the Midwest, Marian graduated from Columbia University with a degree in Anthropology. Her academic and ethnographic research focuses on product development, innovation and consumer insight. She remains actively involved in local Urban Anthropology groups in New York.

Marianne F. Donahue
Senior Manager,
Operations and Administration

Marianne Donahue oversees the day-to-day running of the office, managing a staff of administrative professionals. In addition, Marianne negotiates search agreements and controls the administrative end of the search process. She serves as the point person for facilities management and is responsible for office equipment vendor contracts. Marianne manages accounts receivables/payables and is the purchasing agent for all company expenditures.

Marianne brings two decades of administrative and operations experience. Prior to joining Heyman Associates, she spent a year at Alcoa in corporate development. She also served as Administrative Manager, East Region at TMP Worldwide Executive Search for four years. Marianne has held director-and manager-level positions across various industries, from e-commerce firm iFormation Group, to financial and litigation consulting firm Peterson Consulting, to specialty insurer Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection & Insurance Co. Marianne received a bachelor of fine arts degree from Brooklyn College, City University of New York.